A Letter from Miss Madison

Dear WEAD community,

This dance season has been one for the books. I want to take a moment to thank you all for your unwavering support. WEAD lost almost one third of our students this year due to the pandemic. Also, in a sudden turn of events, we ended up moving out of our home for 25 years into a temporary studio on the other side of town last summer! What timing! We have all suffered losses in some shape or form this year, but what keeps me going is knowing that this amazing community is backing WEAD. You all stuck with us through thick and thin this year. Dancing in boxes, in face masks, with temperature checks every single day. Plus, we pivoted the recital plan on very short notice. It was not, to say the least, a "normal" year. But we adapted to the new normal, and these dancers showed more resilience than I've ever seen. They have worked tirelessly, through it all, to continue pursuing their love for dance. And the end result of a year's worth of hard work, this dance recital, is something they should all feel proud of. While it's not the recital we imagined for ourselves, it's going to be WEAD's first ever dance film, "Charlotte and the Golden Ticket!" And we are thrilled to have you here for a behind the scenes look into the production process. We hope you enjoy the journey, and we hope you enjoy the final film to be released shortly!

Thank you for your continued support,

Madison Ellington
Owner and Studio Director

Plot Summary and Program Guide

Charlotte lives in the lofty town of Worthersville and learns of a contest being held by the infamous Willa Wacky Chocolatier. Whoever purchases the 5 special chocolate bars gets to go inside the never before seen factory for a tour! There's only one problem, Charlotte doesn't have any money. On one fateful day, Charlotte and her Grandfather's dreams come true when she finds a gold coin on the streets. Charlotte takes herself to the candy shop and purchases the last remaining chocolate bar! Charlotte, along with four spoiled rotten children, get to go inside the factory for a tour of Willa Wacky's factory! Throughout the tour, they encounter all sorts of delicious temptations, and they all are desperately searching for the mysterious golden ticket that Wacky released inside the factory. Will Willa Wacky deem any of these kids worthy enough to receive his precious Golden Ticket? Let's find out!

This program is written in show order, the order in which you'll see on video. Some of our dances are being filmed out of show order, so please use the headings on each page to find your dancer listed.
